COMMERCIAL.

SATURDAY, January 19th, 1884. This week opened with a startling announcement. On Monday last it was publicly announced that a new bank had been organized, and the projectors were about to start business at once. The copartnership will be carried outer the firm name of Spreckels & Co., for the pure of carrying on a general backing and exchange busi sess at Honoluin, and such other places in the Hawailan Kingdom as may be deemed advisable. The partners are class Spreckels, Wm. G. Lwin and F. F. Low. They orthor inform the business public that they are prepared to make loans, discount approved notes, and purchase exchange at the best current rates. Their arrangements for selling exchange on the principal cities of the United States, Europe, China, Japan and Australia are being made, and when perfected, due notice will be given. They are also prepared to receive deposits on open account, make collections, and conduct a general banking and exchange business. This is generally looked upon as a boon to the planter and his agent, though the old banking house of Bishop & Co. has always served the public

Last week Colonel G. W. Macfarlage returned from his special mission to the Coast, to conclude arrangements with Mr. Hoffnung for a continuance of Portuguese immigration. The terms submitted by the Government proved satisfactory to the London agent, and he at once telegraphed to Europe to proceed with the recruiting. The areamer will leave the Azorea Islands during the month of March. Portuguese labor is gaining universal favor amongst the planters, and that of Chinese losing easte. The latter race are proving turbulent and ready at any moment to "strike," trusting in their numerical strength to injure the planter, and at the same time knowing they will be supported in their anti-labor movements by the societies or guilds to which they are all sub-

The arrivals for the week comprise the Consuelo from San Francisco on the 12th, the Aberyswith Castle from Liverpool on the 16th, and the Russian man-of-war Rasboynik from Valparaiso on the 17th instant.

The departures were the tark Hope for Port Town send; tern Dora Bluhm for Port Gamble; steamship Mariposa and barkentine Ella for San Francisco, and the schooner Kaluna for the South Sea Islands.

The exports per Mariposa comprised about 700 tons of sugar, 100 tons of rice and 500 bunches bananas; total domestic value, $117,535 13. The Ella carried away sugar, rice and hides walved at $46,281 20. The mail steamer City of Sydney is due to-morrow, and

LOCAL & CENERAL.

A letter of thanks has been handed to Herr Bandmann by the Library Committee of which the following is a copy

HERR BANDMANN: - DEAR SIR: - The generous and material assistance given by your company to the funds of the Honolulu Library and Reading Room Association through the rendering of the play of "Narcisse" at the Music Hall last Tuesday as a benefit to the Association calls for our hearty thanks which please accept, and we request that you will also convey to Miss Beaudet and others who assisted on that occasion, our obligations and sincere appreciation of their kindly help. Sincerely wishing you a prosperous future, we remain, very truly yours, Sanford B. Dole, President. M. M. Scott, Vice President, H. A. Parmelee, Secretary. A. L. Smith, Treasurer.

DIRECTORS. Alex. J. Cartwright, C. M. Hyde, Walter Hill, Henry Waterhouse, H. R. Hollister, Alfred S. Hartwell, William Johnson, Charles T. Rodgers, A. Marques.

We again remind our readers of Miss Beaudet's benefit at the Music Hall to-night. The artiste has chosen the play of "East Lynne" in which to display her histrionic powers. Knowing Miss Beaudet's ability from her past performances-to-wit, Portia in Shylock, and the Pompadour in Narcisse, her audience may rest assured that she will do justice to Lady Isabelle and Madame Vine. The drama will be followed by songs and dances by the beneficiare, and the performance will conclude with "David Garrick, or only an Actor." With such a bill before the public, there cannot fail to Amateur setors and stage and business anagers are very different vocations. Though a y contemporary stated in its critique of the "Women of the People" that " the part of the Doctor was by far the best played of any of the amateurs," it would have been better for the amateur doctor not to have attempted a repetition. Herr Bandmann was fortunate in not being dependent upon the receipts at the door on that occasion as a reward for his pro-essional services. Some time ago presents of white rags and lint were made in a liberal way for the use of the lepers at Molokai and at the Branch Hospital, These supplies are now pretty well run out, and those ladies who feel disposed to send new ones will find that their presents are very welcome. The demand for these things increases with the use, and so far as the Branch Hespital is concerned the advent of the nursing Sisters, whr pay such scrupulous attention to all the patients under their care, has considerably increased the requirements of the place in this way. It is to be hoped that the appeal now made will meet with a quick response.

The first act was given in full, a part of the second, the third omitted and part of the fourth. It was in the second and fourth acts that Herr Bandmann showed his mastery of the Hebrew character. He produced all the effect that the character inherently possesses. Miss Beaudet also delighted the audience with her acting in the "trial scene." At the fall of the curtain, the applause was continued and vociferous until Herr Bandmann appeared before the footlights, and in the costume of Shylock, he addressed the audience as follows :

Such an occasion-I consider the present one to be, as virtually this night closes our engagment, although we shall have the honor to appear on two more occasions, one for the benefit of your library fund, an institution that well merits your support, the other for the benefit of Miss Beaudet, which will take place on Saturday next. On Sunday we shall leave by the City of Sydney for San Francisco. I need not tell you how very sorry we will be to leave you. I was here thirteen years ago, and standing here speaking from your beautiful theatre, worthy of any metropolis in the world, looking back when I played in your old theatre where there was only one-third of the audience that there is present tonight, I cannot but express my surprise at the marvellous progress your beautiful city has made, and you have every reason to be proud of it. (Applause.) It was a great pleasure to me to meet old friends again and make new ones. The next performance will be for the benefit of the Library, as I before stated, in which the ladies of Honolulu are deeply interested. On this occasion we shall perform Narcisse. You are all more or less familiar with the play as it has been before the public for the last twenty years, and from my first recollections I infer that you and I are twenty years older now than then. I can promise you a most enjoyable evening as the piece is well cast and will be well performed. Speaking of the cast, it brings me to the support which we have received. But now the scientists have stepped in with a perfectly lucid explanation. The unusual atmospheric effects so generally visible are due, it is said, to the diffuson of volcanic dust in the air far above the highest clouds. Bouchard concluded his subject of the "Church of Christ" and on Tuesday evening he addressed his hearers on the subject of "Sin" and the means by which God has provided that Sin can be remitted, the soul santified, and our salvation secured. So far there are but two parties in the field for Legislative honors, four on each side. The one is other, the "National ticket." Mr. J. O. Carter heads the former, and J. L. Kaulukou the latter. It is anticipated that both these gentlemen will be elected, and to make up the quartette there will be Mr. E. K. Lilikalani, the father of the $10,000,000 loan bill, and the introducer of the Chinese opium bill, feels sanguine about obtaining a seat in the Legislature. He was a successful candidate in 1880 and also in 1882. He is a strong supporter of any measure pertaining to royalty, and after the bly to be found in the ranks of the Government Mr. J. U. Kawainui is a disappointed man, and he desires to redress his wrongs by obtaining a seat in the House and give utterance to his pent-up and wrathful feelings. Mr. Kawainui is an ex-Privy Councillor and an Ex-Member of the Board of Education. We predict for him a place in the rear and not in the house. Lieutenant Baker is a new aspirant for political glory, but he trusts in the "force of arms" to bring him to the front. We have not heard the gentleman express his opinions inpublic or in private. Mr. Kalaukoa has once appeared in the front row of candidates, but he left no record by which he distinguished himself as a politician. There will be a hard race between "Ladies and Gentlemen:-I very rarely make him and Kawainui for last place. Mr. Keau is strong, at least he thinks so himself, and the betting is in favor of his being placed. Mr. Kunuiakea is one of the sanguine gentlemen who places his trust in his relatives. He is not unknown to the public, having gained a seat in 1880, and run a close second with Mr. Keau in 1832 to fill the vacancy caused by the appointment of Mr. Gibson to the Ministry. He was second because there were only two in the field, and this year he will no doubt take fifth place. A great deal of money is being expended on his behalf, but it had better be saved, and applied in a more legitimate manner. But to return to Messrs. Carter and Kaulukou. They head the two tickets respectively, and will, we predict both be returned. Provided that Mr. J. O. Carter, goes in unprejudiced and unbiased by his immediate surroundings, and uninfluenced by his numerous relations, the public may expect to have in him a good representative. His honesty and independence are proverbial, and he ought during the coming session to make a mark for himself, and at the same time give the public the benefit of his valuable services as an expert accountant and an amateur politician. Mr. Kaulukou will simply have a "walk-over." This is the first time he has aspired to Legislative honors in Honolulu, but in the Koolau district no one dare oppose him. He watches the opposition party with the eye of a hawk and seizes every opportunity to usurp their platform. It is not good style but it seems to please the Hawaiians, for he is always well received by them and leaves a meeting with a feeling of pleasure at having got the better of his adversaries. The race will, we predict, end thus: J. L. Kaulukou (1) J. O. Carter (2) J. Kean

> In the case of Ah See, convicted Wednesday of a felonious assault on a Hawaiian girl of the age of seven or eight years, the prisoner being arraigned for sentence, Judge McCully said: "The law prescribed a penalty of a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars and imprisonment not to exceed five years. He should not impose the highest the presence of these in the atmosphere would no penalty, for this was not the worst case. In saying this he did not mean to say it was not a very bad case and a detestable crime. A worse case would be when such an injury had been inflicted on a child who had been properly cared for at home, who had not frequented Chinese coffee houses and become familiar with vice, so that, as in this case, she offered no resistance; and afterwards made no complaint. In the case of such an innocent child, the highest penalty would be imposed, and the perpetrator might think himself fortunate if he suffered only the penalty of the law. Parents who suffer their daughters to resort to and spend their time at such places as the defendant's, are greatly to blame for the corruption and debauching which is likely to result. He wished that his words might reach the ears of the Hawaiian parents who are permitting their children to spend their time away from home, and who thus at a very early age are lost to virtue.' The Rev. Father Bouchard delivered an introductory address at the Roman Catholic Church last Sunday morning, when he set forth his plans for the current week. He selected for his first subject last evening, "Christ and His Church." There was a full congregation of the English-speaking community, particular care being taken that those who understand the English language should be provided with the seats nearest the altar. HONOKAA, January 10th, 1884.

On last Saturday night three natives were caught in the act of stealing beef, for which they were sentenced to one year's imprisonment each, with costs. Two of them, not being possessed of horses of their own, borrowed two horses from the Sheriff to catch the cattle, but unfortunately did not ask that gentleman's permission, for which little neglect His Honor gave them each three years in addition to the one for stealing beef. In the future when any person wants the loan of a horse from the Sheriff, it would perhaps be as well to ask him first "simply as a matter of courtesy."

KAPAA, January 12, 1883. On Christmas day there was a great deal of drinking going on in one or two places here, notably at the store of J. B. Grant. At the latter place it led to a serious row. Kanhoe, the policemen, suspecting that his wife was at Grant's, went to fetch her away. Grant told him she was not there and took hold of him to put him out. They had a tussle and came to the ground, Kauhoe uppermost, No blows were struck at that time and Kauhoe went away, but returning shortly afterwards and finding his wife in the store, he ordered her home. He was set upon by those present, who were all white men, and Grant hit him so severely on the head with an axe handle that his skull was fractured. Kauhoe was attended by Dr. Wolters and was in some danger first but is now getting around Kingdom. He was examined in open Court, and again, though still weak. The Currency. In regard to the currency, a matter the most complex and least understood in its operations of all others, the Register most especially eschews all claptrap, and stands upon the doctrine of Adam Smith's Wealth of Nations, and the highest standard authority known to the world.

It opposes the paper money feature in the system of our national banks as constituting a corrupting alliance between the Government and the banks, insidiously polluting both the lawmaking power and the administration of justice, and beguiling and humbugging the people with the fallacy of creating money out of debts. The idea of making money of credits or debts, the intrinsic evidence of the absence or want of money is a fraud and an imposture. No truth was ever more forcibly expressed than that evolved by Daniel Webster, in the expression that, "Of all the contrivances for cheating the laboring classes of mankind none has been more effectual than that which deludes them with paper money This is the most effectual of inventions to fertilize the rich man's fields by the sweat of the poor man's brow."
